Principal's Message

You, the students of The Class of 1964 of Framingham North High School, were given a very difficult assignment and have carried it out in an admirable manner.

During the school year 1962-1963, while you were students at Framingham High School, you were asked to participate in many activities which would assist in making possible the opening of our new school for September, 1963. This request in itself was difficult for you because of the loyalty you had for Framingham High School. You did, however, realize that this new school would be only as fine as you, by cooperation with the staff and administration, would make it. Your seriousness of purpose was evident at an early point in our planning. It is pleasing to you and to me to realize in retrospect that many worthwhile beginnings have been made at North High during the first year of its history. As the following class takes your place as the Senior Class of North High School, you should all rightfully feel pride and satisfaction in giving to those who follow you something firm on which to build.

We have initiated many of the activities, programs and clubs which are so vital to the life of a good school. Our academic atmosphere has had a healthy development. The athletic and extracurricular opportunities have flowered because of the interests of our students in these activities. You leave a strong, vigorous, sustaining school spirit.

My wish for you, the members of the Class of 1964, is that the years ahead will be a preparation for full, happy and productive lives, carrying on in your generation the accomplishments of your parents and townspeople.

President's Message

We have just completed the framework of our lives, a framework built on a foundation of the knowledge and understanding acquired through our high school years. With our graduation, the cornerstone of our future has been put in place. Together we have suffered disappointment, tasted success, shared many hours attending class and participating in sports, activities, and social functions. It is my desire that in heart at least, we shall always remain together.

Hampered by the lack of facilities, the social half of our high school education was severely curtailed. Yet despite our handicaps, together we molded a building into a school—a center of academic and social education.

Emerson once said: "For everything you have missed you have gained something else . . ." We are living testimony of this statement. After bearing the irregularities of split and double sessions, we were given the privilege of being the first graduating class at Framingham North High School. By proving ourselves capable of accepting responsibility and acting efficiently without abusing privilege, we have paved the way for bigger and better accomplishments.

I would like to thank the faculty, administrators, and advisors, who helped to make our year at Framingham North so rewarding. The time has come for us to follow our separate paths, accepting what the future may bring while applying the lessons of these past four years. I extend my best wishes for a successful tomorrow and my deepest gratitude for those well-spent yesterdays.

FOR LAN DEPART

The foreign language department teaches Latin, French, and Spanish. A sequence of four years of study is offered in Latin and French. A student may study Spanish for three years. German will be added to the modern language curriculum in September 1964.

The new language laboratory, one of the most versatile there is, affords the student more intensive listening and speaking practice by means of taped programs.

REIGN LANGUAGE MENT

The foreign language department has seven faculty members. Mr. Paul Hayes, the department head, teaches French. Mrs. Mary Faherty and Mrs. Edith Roche teach Latin. Mrs. Germaine St-Maurice teaches both French and Spanish. Miss Norma Stapleton teaches Spanish. Miss Stapleton will be on sabbatical leave for the 1964-65 school year; she will study in Spain. Miss Ruth Boumil and Miss Claire Berthiaume teach French.

MATHE DEPART

The Mathematics Program is designed to meet the needs of students today. The fulfillment of this aim is accomplished by the members of the Mathematics Department through the presentation of old and new concepts in a more meaningful way and through the attempt to challenge each student to the fullest of his ability. For some students this means remedial work; for others, it means the study of calculus.

Basically, mathematical instruction is concerned with ideas of quantity and structure, with patterns and relationships. A student must learn facts, develop concepts, use symbols and master processes and procedures. An important aspect of mathematical learning, however, is the ability to generalize and to see the interrelatedness of all branches of mathematics. This alone will give the student power in the field of mathematics and it is for this that we strive.

This gives a general knowledge of foods and practice in preparation.

The prime objective of the North High School Library is to further the overall objectives of the school. The library assumes the responsibility of formulating goals that describe specific ways to contribute to the growth of young people. Another function of our library is to stimulate and guide pupils in all phases of reading in order that they may find increasing enjoyment and satisfaction, and may grow in critical judgement and appreciation. Another aim of the library is to introduce students to community libraries and to cooperate with those libraries in their efforts to encourage continuing education and cultural growth.

To adequately prepare our young people to take their places in a new type of society, we must develop in them the traits of creativity, versatility, understanding, a desire to work, good work habits and attitudes, a job background, and tool knowledge. This can be accomplished through Industrial Arts, which more than ever before, must be an integral part of general education.

To enable students at North High to meet the above objectives, an extensive and varied industrial arts program is offered, namely; Woodworking, Metalworking, Graphic Arts, Electricity-Electronics, Mechanical Drawing, Technical Drawing, and College Electronics.

Courses include weaving, block printing, paper, wood, and metal construction, paper mache, ceramic sculpture, mosaics, fabric printing, and graphic arts.

MUSIC

Music classes at Framingham North are intended to provide students with a musical background for appreciation and understanding of music as an art.

For a small group of talented musicians interested in pursuing music either as a career or a serious hobby, the department offers a theory course dealing with the technical aspects of music. In addition, they delve into the infinite possibilities of original composition. A few of the best compositions are chosen each year for public performance.

The Physical Education Department offers a program designed to develop interest and skill in a wide variety of physical activities. Girls participate in field hockey, basketball, archery, softball, and other individual and team sports; while the boys' classes include instruction in volleyball, softball, basketball, gymnastics, wrestling, track and field events, and conditioning exercises. Through the varsity sports program, students are encouraged to develop advanced skills in those activities for which they are physically qualified and in which they develop an interest.

MEDICAL

The Medical Department of the Framingham School System includes the School Physician and Chief Medical Consultant, Dr. Edward J. Acton; Dr. Joseph C. Merriam who assists him on routine physical examinations on a part-time basis; Dr. Benjamin F. Macdonald who is the consultant psychiatrist; a nursing supervisor and nine staff nurses.

All are concerned with the physical and mental well-being of each pupil and make every effort to create and maintain a healthful environment, modify the school program to meet the special needs of pupils with exceptional health problems and to provide first aid and emergency care for children who are injured or become ill while under school jurisdiction.

Routine and athletic physical examinations are given and vision and hearing screening tests are conducted. Parents are notified of any defects detected and referrals are made through family doctor or specialist for correction.

Under the able leadership and guidance of Miss Virginia Toth, the Junior Class officers and steering committee worked diligently to present the first Junior Prom to be held at North High. Early in the fall, the committee chairmen were elected and each given a job to perform. There were many pitfalls and discouragements, such as the overdue completion of necessary facilities, but these problems were met and tackled by the committee and Miss Toth; consequently the Junior Prom was a big success. Many thanks go to Miss Toth, the officers, and steering committee of the Class of 1965, for presenting a delightful evening on May 22, 1964.

The purpose of the Drama Club, according to its Constitution, is to acquaint the members with the dramatic arts and to stimulate an interest in them. The sophomores of the Class of 1962 petitioned for a Drama Club and did all the laborious groundwork in constructing a sound constitution.

The workshops cover the various areas of stage craft; acting, choral reading, costumes, direction, lights and sound, make-up, playreading, playwriting, production, properties, publicity, sets, and music and dance.

High standards in drama are the club's aim.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

Becky Pargman and Judy Hurwitz

This message to the graduating Class of 1964 and to the entire faculty, will be an attempt to reflect my feelings that grew stronger towards you in this past year. I consider myself very lucky, because I was able to appreciate the hard work that everyone has put to build a strong basis for the years to come. Above all, I realize that the differences that keep us away from our fellow men have to be erased, and we have to welcome them into our family of friends. We live too close together not to feel as neighbors. Our society only can exist with freedom and we have to make it ourselves. Framingham North has already, in its first year, the good will that helps us to be together and feel as a big family. We have to be side by side, tell more about us, talk together, and walk together . . .

I want to thank you very much for this successful year, and I wish Framingham North much luck in the future! I hope this experience has been as helpful to you as it has been to me!

North High's first debating society, composed of upperclass and underclass divisions, enjoyed an excellent season. Founded to increase the knowledge of forensic studies on the part of high school students, the society fielded a strong interscholastic team, supplemented by profitable debates within the group. # ARCHON

The 1964 ARCHON, Framingham North's first yearbook, is the result of time and effort of many students and faculty members. Being the first yearbook at the new school, THE ARCHON had no traditions or past achievements with which to compete. It set its own goals and attained them. Faculty advisors are: Mr. Hottleman, chief-advisor; Mr. Fortier, Biography and Verse; and Mr. Zecker, Business. The editors, staff and faculty members hope that a new tradition and pattern has been set by the publication of the 1964 ARCHON, and that these traditions and goals will remain for future classes.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

Each year fifty to sixty of the finest voices in the school are combined to form this group. Boys and girls are auditioned each spring for the following September. The finest choral music library is available to this group; they learn as many numbers as possible each year. All periods of music are represented, from the early church music masterpieces to the twentieth century compositions.

This choir performs many times during the year at assemblies, for the Kiwanis Club, for patients at the local hospital, and for the Spring Music Festival and graduation.

ART CLUB

The Art Club at Framingham North High was formed in September. The club has begun a new tradition of creative art activities. One of the aims of the Art Club is to supply the school with posters and decorations. In addition, each member has an individual project which can involve any medium. The meetings are varied. The club sketched Nimbo the Clown and one meeting was devoted to arranging a display of block prints. At another meeting the members made Christmas decorations for the office and main lobby. High points of the year were field trips to scenic Rockport and Sturbridge Village. This year, the Art Club has been very successful. It is hoped that this will continue in the future.

The most selective and best looking varsity team at FNHS is the cheerleaders. The squad is composed of ten girls. All four classes are represented. Being the first cheerleaders at Framingham North High School, the girls designed their own uniforms consisting of Spartan green pleated skirts, vests, and slacks. The cheerleaders aided in giving Spartan spirit the boost it needed at the beginning of the year at the first outdoor rally and informal pre-game rallies before school. The girls' presence and support were enjoyed by many as the girls, in turn, enjoyed giving the loyalty a spirited school needs.

The ten girls who comprise the Freshman Cheerleading Squad were chosen to support an inexperienced and neglected team. As their games taught the boys sportsmanship, endurance, and skill, the girls also learned. In the beginning, they had no uniforms, limited ability, and as a group knew only a few cheers. By the end of basketball season, they had made green and gold uniforms and had boosted their team's spirit considerably.

"GO, SPARTANS, GO!"

"Hit 'em Hard, boys!"

Coach Marx gives encouragement at our first rally.

Although the 1963 football season came to a close without a win for the Spartans, the team felt as though they had gained the experience needed for the coming years. Under the able leadership of head coach Edward Marx and assistant coaches Mr. Anastas, Mr. Insalaco, and Mr. Mickelson, the green and inexperienced players that turned out in the early fall were formed into a hard-hitting, hard-running gridiron squad. The rewards were few and far between, but the Spartan spirit multiplied at each first down or game-saving tackle. It is hard to get up and fight again after being beaten, but week after week, the team came back, hungry for victory. The Spartans proved themselves worthy of their green and gold uniforms and will return again next season to uphold the high standards being set at Framingham North High School.

The end of a long run.

"Excuse me, fellas!"

COACH MARX

A big asset to our team this year was Coach Edward Marx. Coach Marx is a former tackle for American International College, where he played football for three years. He has coached at Monson Academy and for the past five years, he piloted at North Attleboro High, the smallest school in the league, to a 26-15-4 overall record. Two years ago his team won its league title with a 6-3-0 record. The coach hopes that the school and the town will develop an identity with our new building and a new spirit that will continue regardless of victory or defeat. Greenness showed this year, but desire and determination were ever-present. Good luck to Coach Marx and the North High Spartans for many years to come.

Coach James Turner is new at Framingham North this year, as are many of the faculty members. He played varsity hockey for three years with the Baystate All Stars, and graduated in 1952 from St. Lawrence University. For two years, he was the J.V. coach and assistant varsity coach at the Trinity-Pawling Prep School in Pawling, New York. He organized hockey at Berwick Academy, in Berwick, Maine. The coach is a member of the American Hockey Coaches Association, and the Northern New England Ice Hockey Officials Association. He has done a fine job this year at North High, and we wish him much luck in future years.

The History of the Class of 1964

Framingham North High School

Since the commencement of our high school career, we, the Class of 1964, have braved a series of adverse scheduling conditions in our educational environment, yet few classes have set such a fine record of achievement as we. Over the past four years we have shown ourselves to be one of the most active and capable classes ever to pass through the Framingham school system.

September 7, 1960, was a red-letter day for all of us as we entered Framingham High School for the first time. Even though we had very little contact with the upperclassmen, we were nevertheless awed by them and dreamed of the day when we, too, would join the ranks of the illustrious seniors. Our daily schedule of 11:20 to 4:20 hampered our participation in the many activities opened to the rest of the school. However, among those activities in which we could take part were Student Council, our own joint math-science fair, the frosh athletic teams, and the various musical activities. We had our first experience with the high school elective process when we chose Gail Hagspiel, Peter Hayes, John Quirk, and Gordie Salak as our freshman Student Council representatives. In spite of our unusual schedule we were still able to lend our support to our state champion hockey, our Tech Tourney basketball team, and our Bay State League champs—the football squad that BEAT NATICK!!

After a year of struggle we finally overcame the stigma of being freshmen. Again, we were afflicted with an unusual schedule. On Monday, Tuesday, and Friday, we attended school from 7:30 to 2:00. On Wednesday and Thursday, we had three classes from 2:20 to 5:20. We were, however, able to make our presence felt in some activities, including Student Council, newspaper, the Science Fair, musical activities, varsity and junior varsity sports, and we had representatives of our class on the cheerleading and majorettes squads. We were the originators of two new clubs, the International Relations Club and the Debating Club. Just before the year closed, the walls of Framingham High were covered with posters and the students were bombarded with campaign propaganda as our class prepared to go to the polls to select its officers for our junior year. When the results were tallied we discovered that Peter Hayes had been chosen President; Bruce Howard, Vice-President; Susan Hanley, Secretary; and Doug Breault, Treasurer.

Junior year was our first nearly normal year in terms of scheduling. We arrived for classes at 7:30 in the morning and before we knew it, we were dismissed at 12:20. Although our class performed creditably in all school activities, ranging from the Candy Sale to the Science Fair, our major job as juniors was to produce a Prom that the seniors and the rest of the school would enjoy. Thus, the Junior Class Officers appointed a Steering Committee that worked for months to complete and perfect our theme of "Beneath the Blue." As a result of the superb efforts of Lynn Titleman and her decorations committee, our gymnasium was transformed into an underwater paradise of blue and green. Miss Janice Meeker was chosen as our class princess. Following the high point of the evening, the Grand March and the announcement of the Queen and her court, everyone adjourned to the Maridor on Route 9 for dinner and dancing. At 2:30 A.M. all departed, agreeing that this had been the most memorable evening of their lives.

Within the few weeks following the Prom, campaigning again began for class officers. Because there were to be two high schools in Framingham two sets of officers were chosen by their respective Student Bodies. Those at North were President, Peter Burnim; Vice-President, Edward Murphy; Secretary, Kathleen Connolly; and Treasurer, Elaine Fiske. Chosen at South were President, Bruce Howard; Vice-President, Joe Donnelly; Secretary, Susan Hanley; and Treasurer, Bob Drake.

As a result of the amazing growth of the town of Framingham within recent years, the overpopulated Framingham High School was not able to accommodate such large numbers. We found our class split in half, those living south of Route 9 and west of Edgell Road going to South, and those of us north of the turnpike and east of Edgell Road going to the new Framingham North, the largest educational complex in New England since World War II.

In our senior year we not only enjoyed a new school building; but we were also privileged to have the services of a new Administration, headed by Principal Mr. Francis Cavanagh, and our vice-principals, Mr. John Hart, Mr. Joseph Ciccolo, and Mr. Thomas Murphy. The warmth and fairness of these gentlemen aided in giving our school the feeling of unity that all new schools require.

We opened our senior year with a unique football season (no wins, eight losses, and One TIE). However, as a result of the combined efforts of all the members of the student body, the spirit displayed at the games and throughout the school in activities has yet to be equaled in the town of Framingham. Though the team did not have as successful a season as we hoped and only scored 14 points all year, the school was proud of its boys and their new coach, Mr. Edward Marx, and their captains, Don Cotton and Jim Fair. The season was heightened by the appearance of our new band in their sharp green and gold uniforms, under the student direction of Bruce Lovelace. On Sept. 27, 1963, Framingham's first outdoor Pep Rally was held to urge the boys on to victory. At the rally the new 200-member Pep Squad put on its first show of strength and the rally was termed a great success. Another outdoor rally was held just before the Thanksgiving Day game, this one at night. The rally was held on our campus and sported one of the biggest turnouts ever seen at a bonfire rally in Framingham.

At the close of our Junior year officers for our new Student Council were elected. Thus, through the year the Council was presided over by Peter Hayes as President and assisted by Tom Gardiner and Jack Webb as Vice-Presidents; Kathy Connolly, Recording Secretary; Julie Cotton, Corresponding Secretary; and Paul Chelman, Treasurer. Under the leadership of this group the Council held very successful Candy Sale and some excellently supported Christmas Projects. The Council was also privileged to welcome our exchange student, Miss Rebecca Pargman, by making her an honorary member.

Throughout the year, the Senior Class Steering Committee and the Student Council found themselves confronted with the same problem of a lack of facilities for our proposed activities. Since the gymnasium, cafeteria, and auditorium were not completed until late in the year, dances could not be held. However, the Senior Class showed their originality by planning a Spaghetti Dinner and Record Hop at the Union House during Christmas vacation.

Despite the 5-13 record of our basketball team, our Spartan squad did a fine job and retained a large following throughout the season.

Our hockey team was the first to take advantage of the Edward F. Loring Memorial Arena that the town built for the youth of the community. The squad, captained by Bob Britnell and Jack Merchant, carried a heavy schedule, playing both the Bay State League on Saturday evenings and in the Dual County League on Wednesday afternoons.

However, the affair on which the Class of 1964 worked hardest was the senior play. "The Diary of Anne Frank." This play was far from an average school production due to the excellent direction of Irene L. Kline.

We were proud of the wonderful job done by Yearbook co-editors Gwenn Beard and Lee Riccardi and by the SPARTAN Editors Kathy Connolly and Dawn Driscoll. As the year drew to a close it was highlighted by the appearance of a remarkably able debating team and the foundation of the National Honor Society. With the approach of Spring '64, came the anticipation of graduation. Even though we have spent but one year of our high school career at North High, we all have a deep feeling of pride in the school. We will remember the honor we have had as the first graduating class of Framingham North and we will endeavor to uphold that honor wherever we may be.

Congratulations to . . .

the class of '64

We know the sigh of relief that comes at the end of your final exam. Long years of study behind you, and a big, wide world ahead.

But even at that, it isn't the final test — or the end of your learning. The biggest tests still face you in the choice and fulfillment of your life's work.

Many plan for college, some must reckon with the armed forces, others will seek positions in industry, trade, business. We, at Dennison, congratulate you on your past accomplishments; if your future plans call for steady employment or summer work, we'll be glad to discuss your problems with you.

Our Employment Department will welcome the chance to outline opportunities existing in our offices, factory and warehouse.
